INTRODUCTION

Oman's Wages Protection System (WPS) is an electronic salary transfer system required by the Ministry of Manpower. It ensures workers are paid on time and in full.

The system works with banks and authorized financial institutions to create a central database that tracks wage payments in the private sector.

02

OBJECTIVES OF WPS

The Wages Protection System aims to:

- 1 Protect Manpower Rights:
Ensure that workers receive their legally prescribed wages on time, thereby safeguarding their financial well-being.
- 2 Enhance International Reputation:
Improve Oman's standing in international organizations and among countries that send labor to Oman by maintaining workers' rights.
- 3 Stabilize Employer-Worker Relationships:
Foster stable and transparent relationships between employers and employees by ensuring wage payments are made on time.
- 4 Prevent Work Stoppages:
Identify delayed payments quickly and address issues before they escalate to work stoppages or strikes.

03

WORKFLOW OF THE WPS

The WPS operates through a series of steps designed to streamline wage payments and monitoring:

1 Registration:

Companies must register with MOMP and set up WPS accounts with authorized banks or financial institutions.

2 Salary Information Submission:

Employers submit detailed wage information to the WPS database, including payment schedules and amounts.

3 Wage Transfer:

On the designated payday, salaries are transferred electronically from the employer's account to the employee's bank account.

4 Monitoring and Reporting:

The system continuously monitors wage payments, creating reports that are accessible to both MOMP and the companies.

04

BENEFITS OF WPS

The Wages Protection System offers numerous advantages:

- ✓ Faster Resolution of Wage Grievances:
By maintaining a detailed record of all wage payments, disputes can be resolved more quickly.
- ✓ Support in Blocking Non-Compliant Companies:
Companies that fail to comply with wage regulations can be identified and blocked until issues are resolved.
- ✓ Reduced Investigation Costs:
The system reduces the resources needed for wage-related investigations.
- ✓ Tracking Company History:
WPS maintains a history of each company's wage payments, aiding in decision-making and regulatory compliance.
- ✓ Informed Decision-Making:
Data from WPS can inform decisions related to clearance, inspections, and other regulatory actions.
